HOMECOMING COURT '75

To bolster spirit for the final week of the football season in '75, Uni held three days of special events. Monday, a sale of doughnuts and See's suckers began the fun. On Wednesday, the Unihi faculty took on a student contingent for campus gridiron supremacy on the girl's field at lunch. Thursday, the action really started to peak as a wheelchair basketball game with Widney High gained the attention during lunch in the boys' gym. The score was 28 to 8 in favor of Widney.

The traditional climax of Homecoming week came on Friday with the Warriors in pursuit of a victory over their local rivals, the Venice Gondoliers. A pep rally at lunch set the spirit for the afternoon.

Halftime festivities included a parade with entries from Boys' League, Girls' League, Senior Class, Senior Cheerleaders, Junior Class, Leadership, Black Student Coalition, La Raza, Cross Country, Gymnastics, the Asian Culture Club, the Cheerleaders, Russian Club, Baseball, and the Alumni Cheerleaders.

Highlighting the afternoon was the announcement of Uni's 11th annual Homecoming court. A new facet to this year's court was the representation of both sexes.

Rhonda Pinkney was Uni's 1975 Homecoming Queen, with Linton Anderson as king. Jeff Young was Senior Prince, with Amy Leitman as Senior Princess. The Junior Prince was Steven Beavers with Deloreese Daniels as Junior Princess. The Sophomore Prince and Princess were Koji Terata and Vivian Mayer respectively.

Homecoming '75 festivities concluded with a Homecoming dance held at the Ramada Inn.

Leadership Means Involvement

Administrators seem to come in two sizes: the large imposing authority figure and the diminutive common man type. Uni's new principal, Paul Godfrey would appear to have successfully combined the two. A Marine Reserve officer, he likes to run a "tight ship," in which people know their areas of authority and act accordingly. But beyond this authority figure, Mr. Godfrey believes in participating on all levels and in all areas of the school program. Whether it be ducking for apples at the Halloween celebration, conferring on school policy with faculty chairman Marty Solig, or attending a pep rally, Mr. Godfrey wants to be with and for the people.

Miss Offenbach Calls It a Career

When Assistant Principal Elinor Offenbach cleaned out her desk after the fall semester she retired only in the official sense. After a long career with L.A. Schools, the last eight years of which were at Uni, she stepped into a position that her experience and temperament make her well suited for—public relations. For the first few years of her term at Uni, Miss Offenbach was Girls' V.P., a job that made her well known and beloved to many. When IPS was founded she was the innovative program's first administrator. Now, in her characteristic fashion, accepts a new challenge.

Practice, Practice

Learning a language requires a good deal more than memorizing vocabulary and declining lists of verbs. In the audio-lingual method used by Uni's language department, the emphasis is placed on practice of oral patterns. Hearing various speakers on tapes as well as the instructor, the student has a number of good models to imitate. When a student has put in his many hours of practice in a language class, he will have attained a degree of fluency in speaking.

SCIENCE

Uni's Spring: Open Air Textbook

"Food chains, population density", and "biotic factors" are often just terms in a biology textbook, but Uni's science department has brought these and many others to life as part of a close study of the campus environment. At the spring in the Horticulture area, students have a marvelous opportunity to see an ecosystem in operation with all its parts in full interrelationship. There they collect specimens, make measurements, and observe directly for later study. For periods up to one week, students visit the spring, seeing the real meaning of "ecology."

Then back in the classroom, the microscopes come out, water samples are examined and reports written up. Perhaps nowhere at Uni is the application of textbook knowledge so closely related to an actual situation.

Brains and Machines

We're still a long way from the age in which the machines take over and do all the work, but the math department is at least bringing them into good use. Computer classes and the frequent use of pocket calculators in all math work supplement the usual pencil pushing. If anything, they do not cause students to avoid mathematical processes but rather allow them to get closer to the real thinking core of the material that math encompasses.

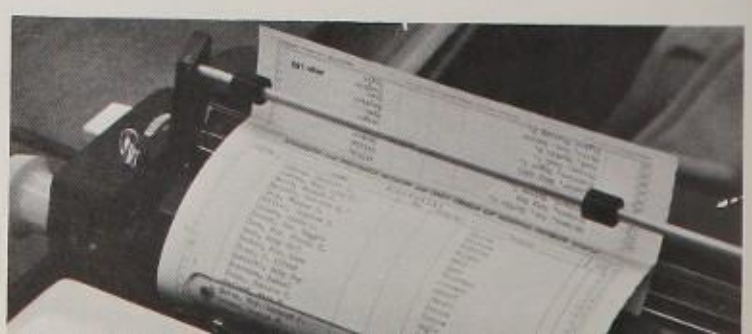
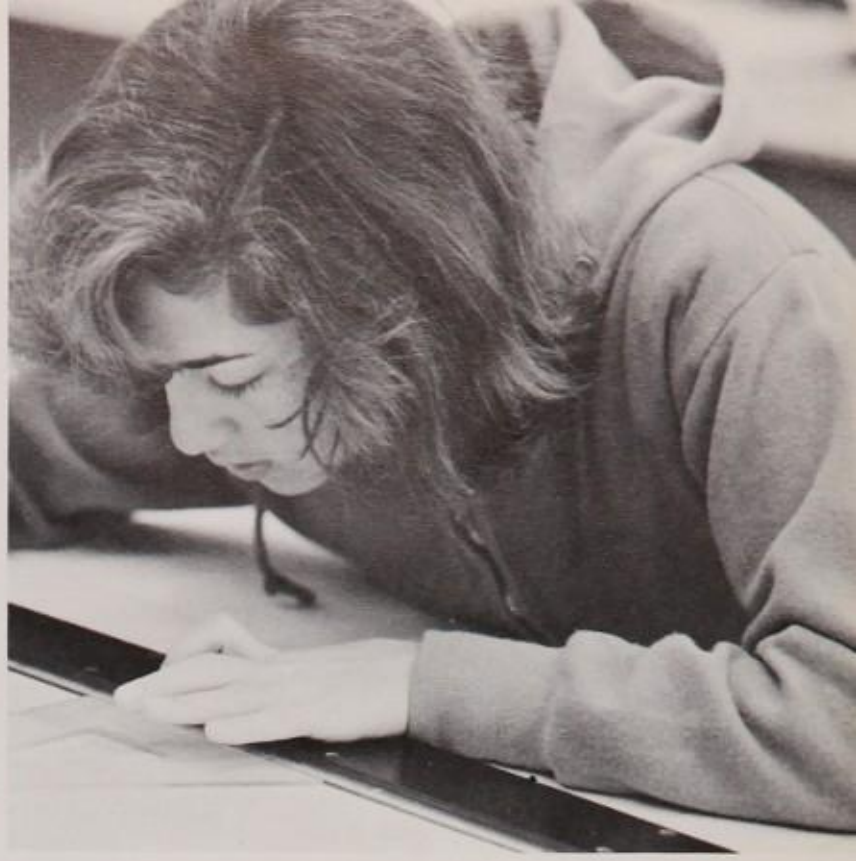
Students Discover Their Tomorrows

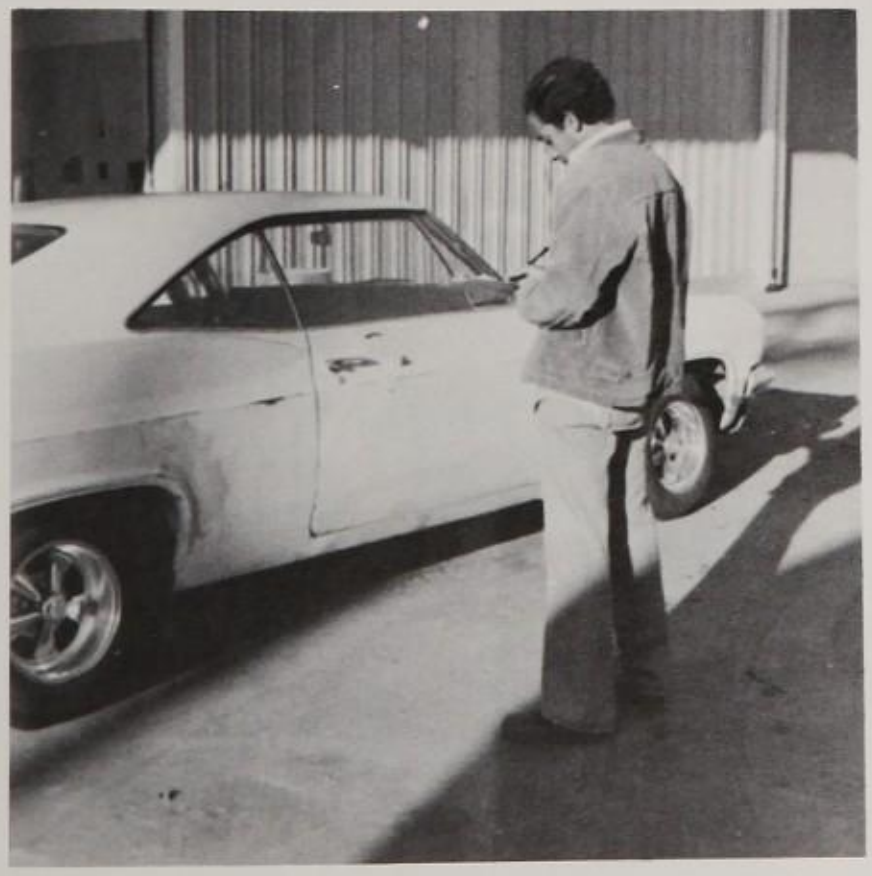
Students have the opportunity to preview their future by enrolling in the Regional Occupational Programs. Two periods of job training are offered either at Uni or at different schools. There are such classes as Cosmetology, Drafting, Hospital Occupations, and Auto Body Repair. Classes may be taken during school, on Saturdays, or after school.

Medical Office Occupation classes learn medical terminology, transcription, and medical procedures. Students are able to translate the confusing jargon of medicine.

Auto Body Repair enables the students to rejuvenate injured automobiles, while drafting classes learn how to transfer mechanical ideas into actuality at the point of a pencil.







IPS

CAPAC

IPS carries out its purpose with the acronym —CAPAC—which stands for " clarity with acknowledgement and participation under agreement at cause. If even that seems a little strange, one might say that IPSers are working on developing a sense of purpose and responsibility. Together they release tensions by group phychocalesthenics, which relieve them of tensions and make them ready for heavy subject matter like rhetoric.

ENGLISH

Uni's English department not only teaches the traditional fundamentals of writing, but extends to the finer points of both writing and literature.

The class in Modern Psychological Lit. concerns itself with the inner motives and thoughts of the characters in readings, learns psychological terms, and Freudian methods of analysis.

The S.A.T. class is offered to prepare students for College Boards, and improve their S.A.T. scores.

Other classes as well are offered in World Lit., Modern Lit., and Existential Lit. Alternatives to the basic English classes are Drama, Creative Writing, and Journalism.

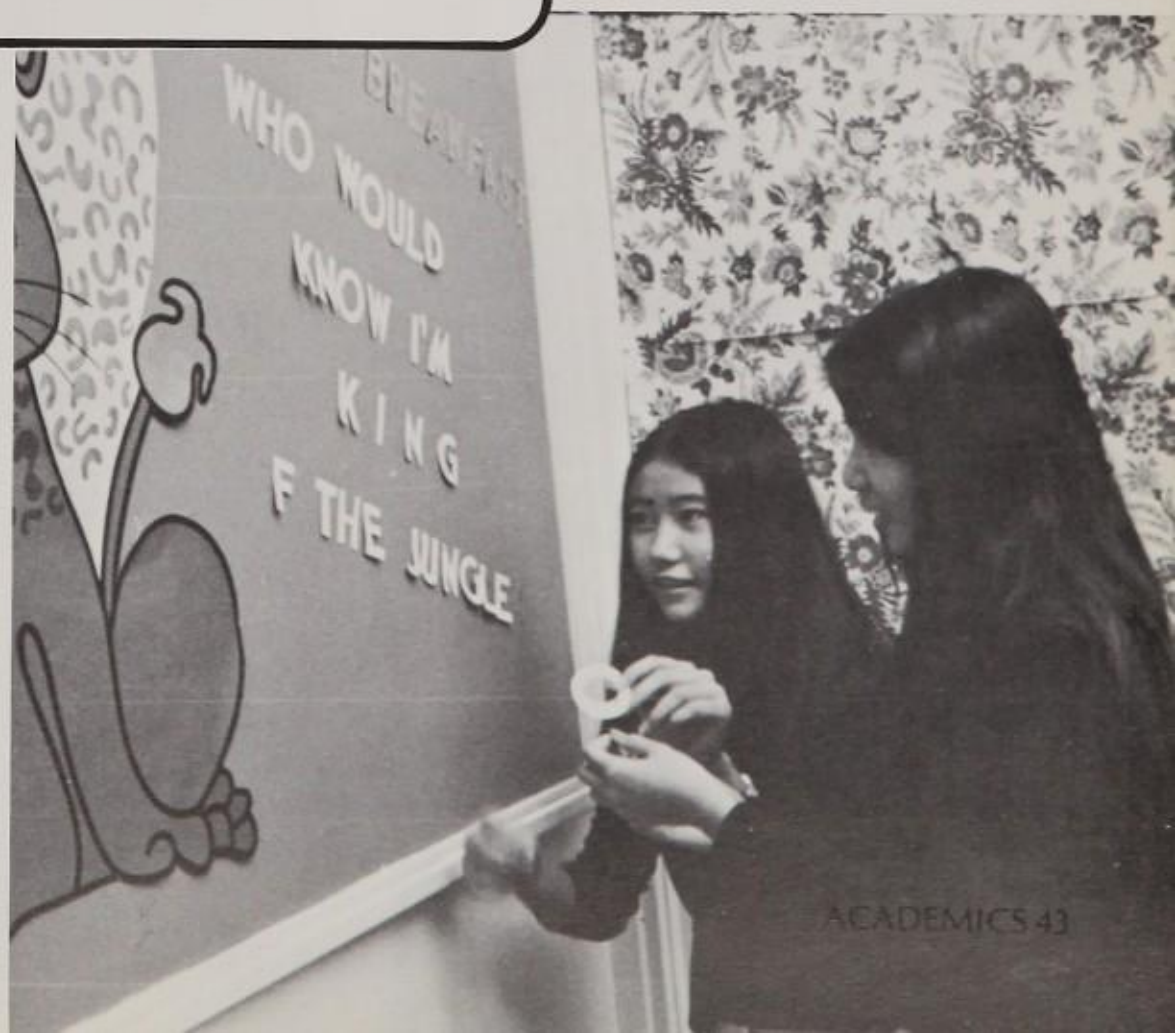
STUDENT SERVICE

If one likes to work in offices and does not mind running errands, then getting into student services is the answer. Besides having fun and getting to know the whole school inside and out, one gets credit for it too.



Student services range from office work to working in the hash lines. Many students enjoy running errands, typing up the school's bulletins and working in the library or health office. It gives them a chance to experience something new in their daily schedule of academic classes.

TRI SCHOOL

What's a mod? No, it doesn't have anything to do with style. It's the special schedule that Tri-School uses to make the time for classes fit the special needs of the math, science and English programs that these lucky tenth graders share. So a class might be able to see a film straight through or have a lab session long enough to complete an extensive study. In combining the three classes, Tri-School makes the most of field trips to Beverly Hills Court or the UCLA Botanical Garden or similar points of educational interest.

Oak Grove: A Time for Communicating

Starlight hikes, cool dips in a nearby mountain stream, and lively horseplay made the Oak Grove weekend more than just talk, but behind it all was the opening up of communication. Oak Grove was organized so that students and administration could discuss certain school problems and find workable solutions to them. The relaxed setting of the outdoors allowed for a more relaxed atmosphere in which to discuss school problems. Some of the topics discussed at Oak Grove were: Smoking Problems, Curriculum Evaluation, Student Apathy, Teacher Evaluation and Communication. Oak Grove was successfully organized by a committee in Leadership class called the Oak Grove Committee, which was headed by Andrea Schaffell and Julie Guze. The other members of the committee were Karen Fox, Karen Greene, Kim Carpenter, and Arthur Frumkin.

AFS

AFS in Action

The American Field Service (ASF) is a non-profit scholarship organization which brings students to live in our country and sends young American Scholars overseas. University is presently sponsoring Debbie Margolis, while Jeffrey Schaffer has returned from his stay in the United Kingdom. Our candidate for the coming year is Douglas Gould.

Debbie in Denmark

Debbie is going to a Danish school and is learning the language fluently. She's very lucky to have the honor of being in AFS. Debbie is living in a neighborhood about three kilometers from the school, which is in the town Roskilde.

The school has 450 students, and she has only one group with whom she attends her classes. There are 22 people in her class.

Debbie is looking forward to returning in July and thanks AFS a million times for the fantastic experience.

CSF

With fingers ready to punch the button, quiz team members brought a new dimension to CSF competition. For many years past, the group has sponsored teams in interscholastic competition, often earning berths in the finals and TV exposure. This year the competition was opened up to intramural battles between teams representing any classes willing to put their mental powers to the test. In the noon-time format, teams worked their way to the finals of the elimination tournament. Win or lose, the teams brought the kind of sharpness that CSF prides itself in to a much greater number of participants.

HEAD TO HEAD

Student-Faculty Contests

On numerous occasions throughout the year, faculty members meet students not across the usual desk but on opposing sides of the scrimmage line or a volleyball net. A regular bowling league is comprised of both students and teachers. No official records indicate which group holds the edge in most of these encounters, but it might be said that age and experience always seem to make a good contest with youth.

DRAMA

Paperbag Players Emote

Winners of numerous drama festival awards, Uni's student actors this year developed a new forum for their talents. At noon on Wednesdays, Room 384 filled with eager spectators as the players presented a selection of show stoppers. Audience reaction was great enough that some viewers all but forgot to eat the bag lunches they had brought.

THE YEAR OF THE DRAGON

The traditional Chinese New Year greeting is "Gung ho fat choy." At Uni it could be translated as "It's your move" or "Match point!" The first week in February saw the year of the dragon inaugurated with two traditional Chinese games—ping pong and Chinese checkers and chess. All races and even faculty members were represented in the friendly competition. What's the Chinese expression for "A good time was had by all?"

HOLIDAY PROGRAM

With the school in the midst of its rebuilding program, the soon to be demolished gym had to serve as the setting for the annual holiday program. The dusty iron beams and grimy walls resounded to the echoes of festive tunes reflecting the diverse cultural and ethnic backgrounds of the student body.

SPRING OFFICERS

Mike Martin- Speaker of the House
Steve Cavin- Senate President
Paul Boozer- Commissioner of Elections

After many years of being designated as "Leadership" this spring's student leaders elected some new terminology to suit their new sense of purpose. Now it's "Student Government," suggesting that they have the intention of actively participating in policy making. In various official positions we find similar redirection. The new Board of Communication suggests a more ambitious purpose than the old Publicity group.

Undergrads Go Off Reservation

It isn't only seniors that get some special opportunities. How about the field trips that undergraduates look forward to so much. Seeing the L.A. courts in action, the County Art museum (as in these pictures) or the Huntington Library makes a pretty nice variation from the regular school routine, but the bus ride itself is a treat. While you're sitting there talking with your friends (about the class value of the trip, of course) the rest of your geometry class is back at Uni bisecting angles.

REACHING OUT

In numerous ways Uni-ites have taken the opportunity to reach out to the community and lend a helping hand. Girls' League conducted a toy drive for Headstart youngsters. As well as collecting the toys, the girls supervised their distribution and actually participated in the story-telling, dramatic presentation and entertainments to brighten the kids' lives.

LOOKING FOR SPACE

Uni's biggest room seems to be the girls' field and grove area, where at any snack or lunch period the greatest concentration of students seem to be. Yet in that location there's still plenty of room for spreading out and enjoying the privacy of your own group or just being alone.

A Little Nostalgia

Mario Lomeli's Drama Production class reached back into the thirties for this year's big show. The soon-to-be demolished auditorium would have been a suitable site for ONCE IN A LIFETIME, but building code restrictions made it necessary for performances to be held in nearby Paul Revere auditorium. The troupers delighted near SRO crowds for the weekend performances as their antics made the most of the madcap comedy.

ENOUGH SOUL

BSC Celebrates

Black History Week saw the Black Students' Coalition hosting the school at a number of lively events.

Chicken and ribs literally saturated with soul delighted the throng that crowded the barbeque area. On the field, a rock band throbbed out the rythyms that sent the fans gyrating. And on Friday night another dance drew the faithful.

On the more serious side, a speaker from SFVSC spoke at noon on the subject of Black business and economics. Whether in fun or seriousness, the BSC showed the spirit that Uni can always use more of.

The roar of bulldozers and heavy equipment has signaled the end of a number of Uni landmarks. After this year, the boys' gym, auditorium, auto shop, and cafeteria will fall. As the face of the campus changes, the school is considerably disrupted, but the promise of new and better facilities brings new hope.

FOOTBALL '75
WARRIORS IN PURSUIT

The problem of being "in pursuit" was strongly evident in '75. As the warriors came off the field, it was clear that they had spent their time and efforts keeping up with the opposition. But a closer look reveals that the team took a pride in themselves and their "I won't quit" attitude.

The record shows some highlights that resulted from that pride. Against highly rated Marshall, unbeaten at that time, Uni earned a hard-fought tie. Westchester, who finished second in league and advanced to the city playoffs, barely escaped from Uni's pursuit when the Warriors attempted a two-point pass conversion play, leaving the final score 20-21. Warrior opponents would have to admit that they faced some real competitors.

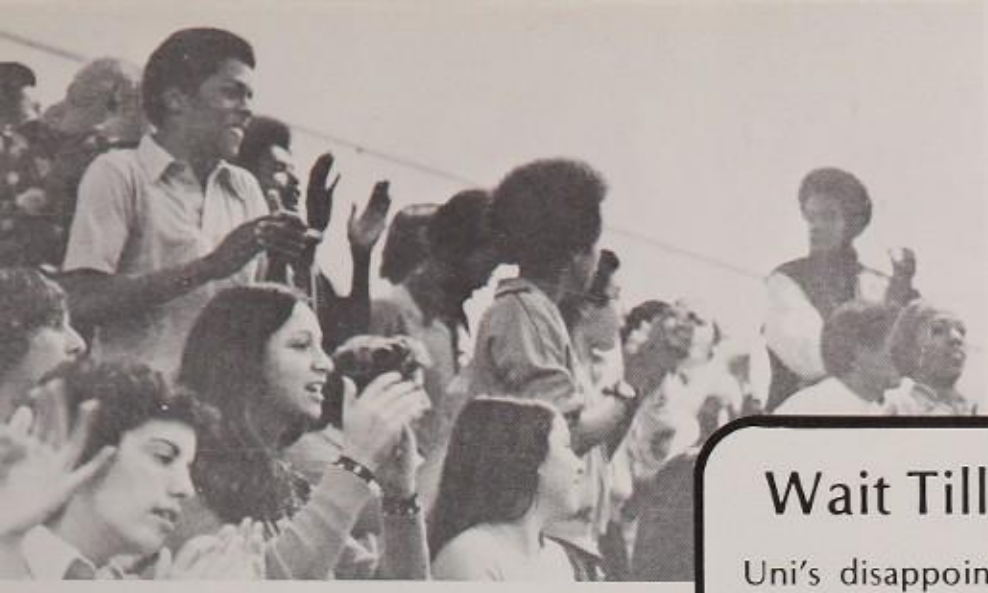
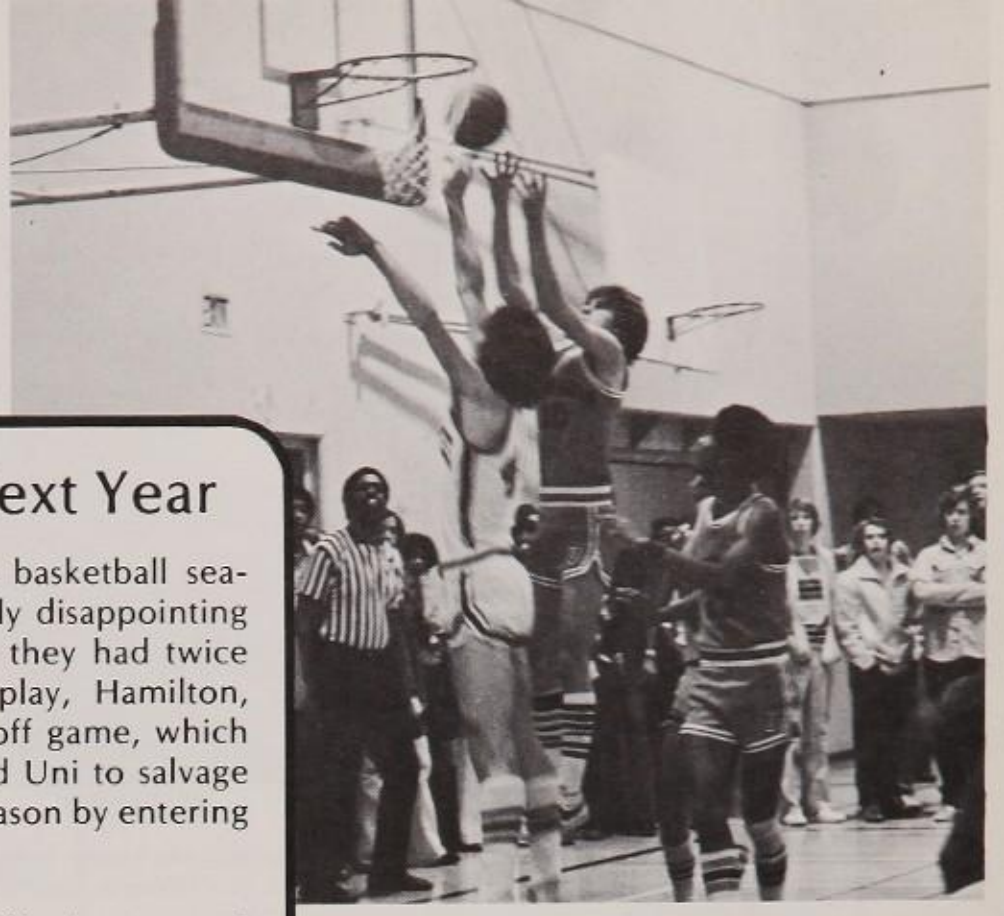
BASKETBALL





Wait Till Next Year

Uni's disappointing basketball season came to a totally disappointing close when a team they had twice beaten in league play, Hamilton, took a special playoff game, which would have enabled Uni to salvage something of the season by entering the city playoffs.

In pre-season, the Warriors were 5 and 8, including a season high score of 104 against L.A.

One unusual event occurred with the appearance of the Bullen team from Australia, who took a 54-44 victory back down under.

Individual standout players included Keith Carodine and Tim Richards, who averaged 11.3 and 9.2 points respectively. The same two shared rebounding honors in reverse order of their scoring. Unsung honors go to Kevin Kenny for his high average in assists. From this season's squad, three lettermen will return next year, forming the nucleus of a rebuilding program for Coach Anderson.

Measured by the won- lost record, the J.V. season was not a smashing success. Wins over rivals Pali and Venice gave some comfort. Scoring honors went to Gary Kikunaga with 13.0 while Rod Pinkney followed up Gary's rebound lead with a close second. The assist leader was Henry Ramos, and Gary Kikunaga showed his all around ability by leading in steals.

SOCCER

The International Sport

Composed of players born in almost every section of the globe, Uni's soccer team lives up to the international image of the sport. Although the team's record didn't take them to the playoffs, a victory against Palisades brought sweet satisfaction after a first round loss. Another victory against Hollywood slipped away on a penalty kick on a very controversial call. Against Venice the Uni-ites held a goal edge for most of the game. In summing up, Coach Hector Lerma recalls those two famous sayings of coaches: "We showed character." and "Wait till next year."

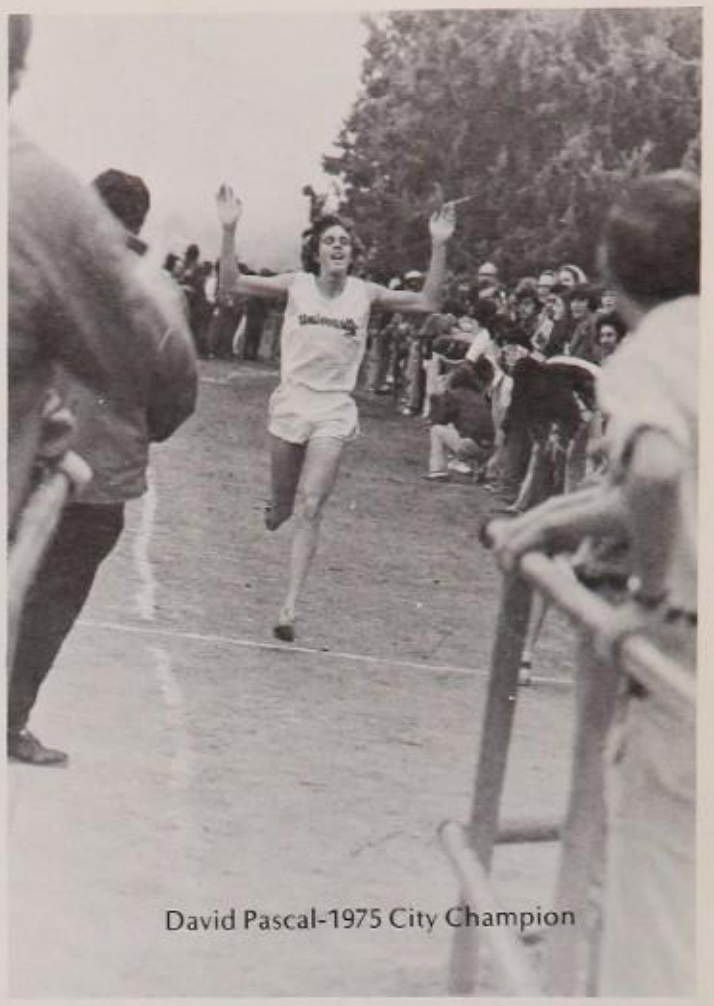
The No. 1 Team with their No. 1 Coach Kampmann



David Pascal-1975 City Champion

"The finest team in Uni History," was Coach Dick Kampmann's description of the 1975 City Champion Cross-Country Team.

For the 2nd straight year the Warriors proved to everyone that they were the team to beat.

The Team, comprized solely of seniors, ends the 3 years of competition, but their 2 City titles will remind us years from now of their remarkable achievements.

When David Pascal was a Soph, Kampmann said he could be a City Champion. Pascal proved Kampmann a prophet. He came on in the last month of the season to win the City title in 13:54.9 (a course record).

Although Team Capt. Andy Sherrill was plagued by late season injury, he still managed an 8th finish in City Finals. Running injury free he certainly would have had the All-City title himself.

Bill Bredall proved the most consistant runner for the Warriors. With exception of City Finals (9th), he ran no worse than 4th in any race.

Jeff Sanders, Gordon Blacknell and Ignacio Rodriguez all had their best races in City Finals contributing decisive points to the teams victory.

There is one man-Coach Dick Kampmann, who knew victory as few men do. For years he preached dedication, hard work and sacrifice to his harriers; but, most important of all is that Coach K taught us PRIDE WINS.

I wish to all who are leaving and to all who aren't, the best in all your endeavors.

The Junior Varsity Squad turned out to be one of the most well-balanced teams in the city. After a slow start they came on to take 2nd in League and 6th in the City Finals.
Maurice Sanchez, a junior, was the big JV runner finishing 5th in League and 10th in City.
Mike Axelrod, Glenn Hattori, Michael Jeffrey, Yoshio Muki and Jeff Young all seniors, ran 1st or 2nd in a race at least once during the season, showing Uni's depth.

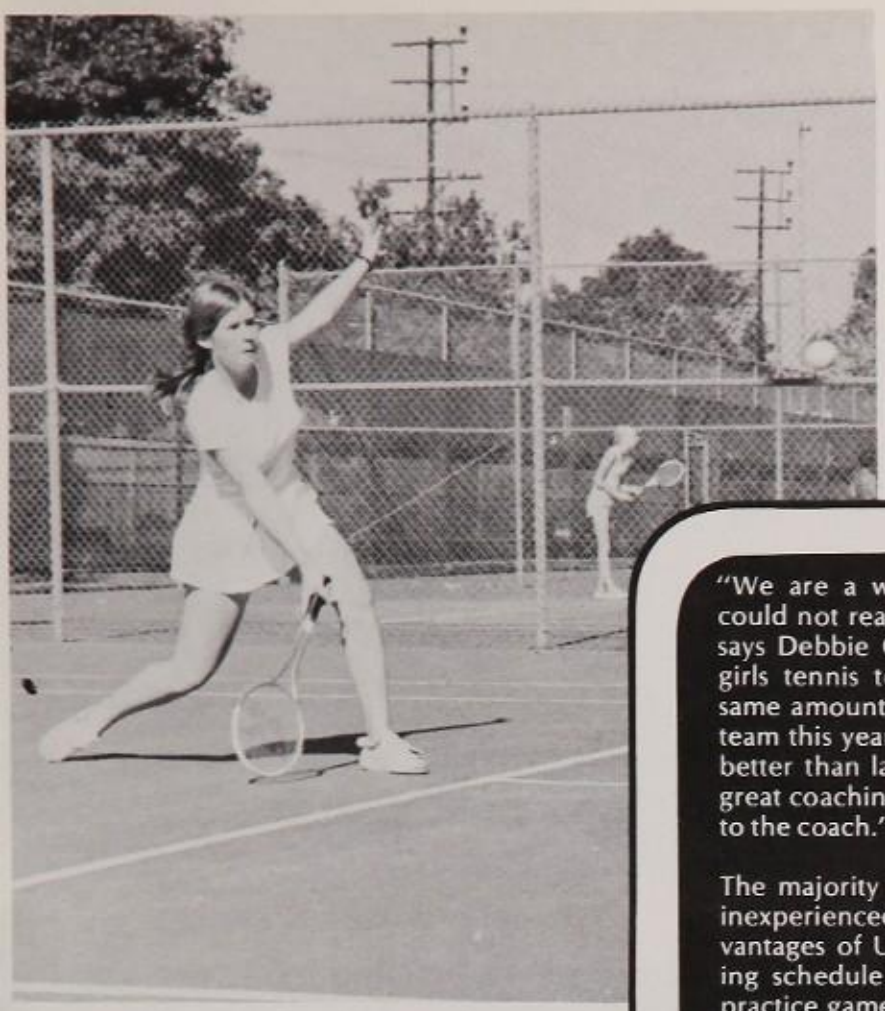
G.I.A. TENNIS



"We are a well-balanced team where one could not really single out any great player." says Debbie Carnochan, captain of Uni-Hi's girls tennis team." Everyone has given the same amount of effort . . . we are a stronger team this year, and our performance is 200% better than last year. A lot of it comes from great coaching because the team related well to the coach."

The majority of the team consisted of new, inexperienced players. Despite the disadvantages of Uni's lack of courts, an exhausting schedule of twelve League games, plus practice games, and a new coach, the Netters came in a tough second place in League behind Palisades. Beating first place team Bell High in the first round of City Playoffs, Uni advanced to the quarter-finals. There, they lost in a close match to Grant High 3-4, the season's most exciting and suspenseful event. The huge success of this season was due largely to their new coach Robbie Youtan. PMA (positive mental attitude) was the season's theme, and helped them along their winning streak.

Says Coach Youtan, "The girls worked hard all season putting in many hours of practice. The unity of the team was apparent throughout the entire semester . . . I am grateful to this team for their never-ending help and support. It will be hard to find another team quite like this, my very first and best team! I'll never forget them. . ."

GIA BASKETBALL

Almost All the Way

Uni's girls' basketball team took an 8 and 5 record into the city playoffs and nearly came away with the whole thing. Even their loss to Los Angeles High could easily have gone the other way. Featuring Coach Lange's PMA (positive mental attitude) the girls are looking forward to next year when four juniors and three sophomores will return.

The J.V.'s shared the varsity's near miss record. Their 9-5 record earned them a second place in the City West League.

The GIA Banquet took place at the Marina del Rey Hotel, in the Waterfront Room. Gathered together for an evening of speeches and awards were the tennis and basketball teams, their families, the coaches and managers, the administrators, and a few of the team alumni. Awards presented to the basketball teams were as follows: The Varsity team voted as their Most Valuable player-Emma Silvestri, and Jody Lee as their Most Improved. Coach Lange awarded the entire team the Coach's Award for their fine play in coming in 2nd place All-City. Special recognition went to Kelly Sullivan for being named into the 1975 All-Los Ageles City High School Basketball Team. The Junior Varsity team voted Cindy Jenkins as their Most Valuable, LaVon Wilson as their Most Improved, and the Coach's Award went to Debbie Adams.

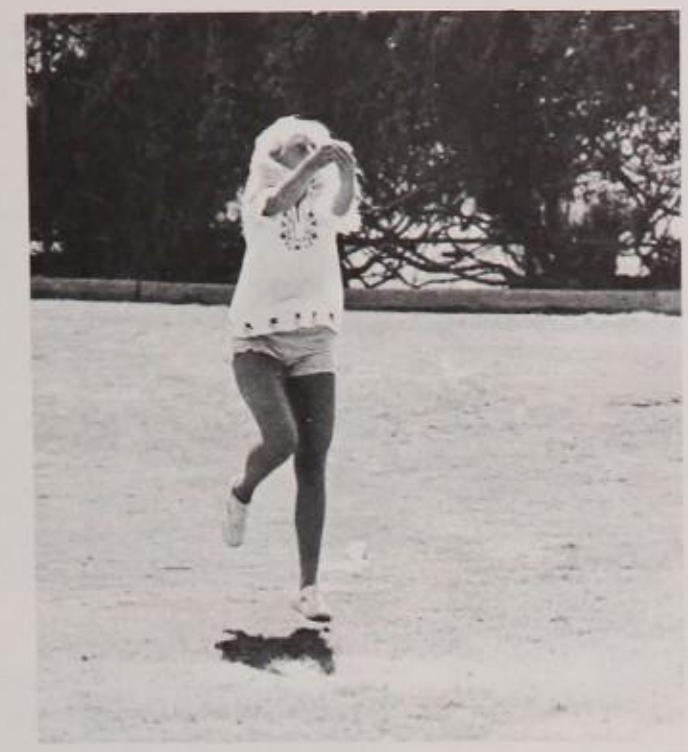
VOLLEYBALL-



To those that aren't turned on by uniforms, practice schedules and the regimentation that formal athletics feature, the numerous volleyball courts on campus provide a great opportunity for competition, so much so that girls' P.E. classes often have to shoo these grass roots competitors off so that regular classes can continue.

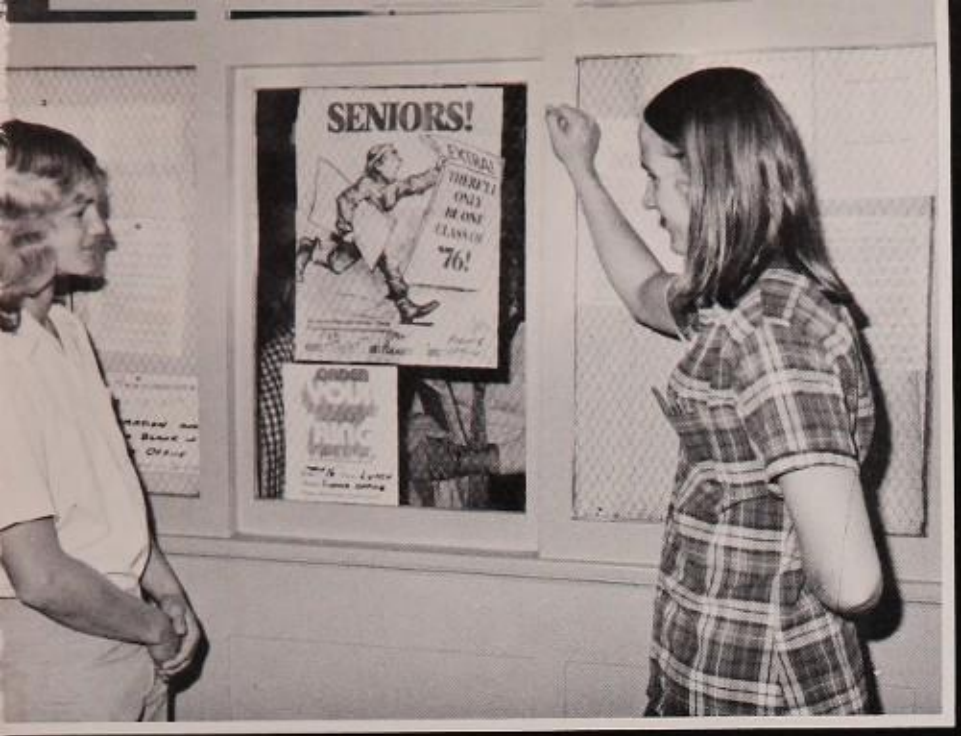
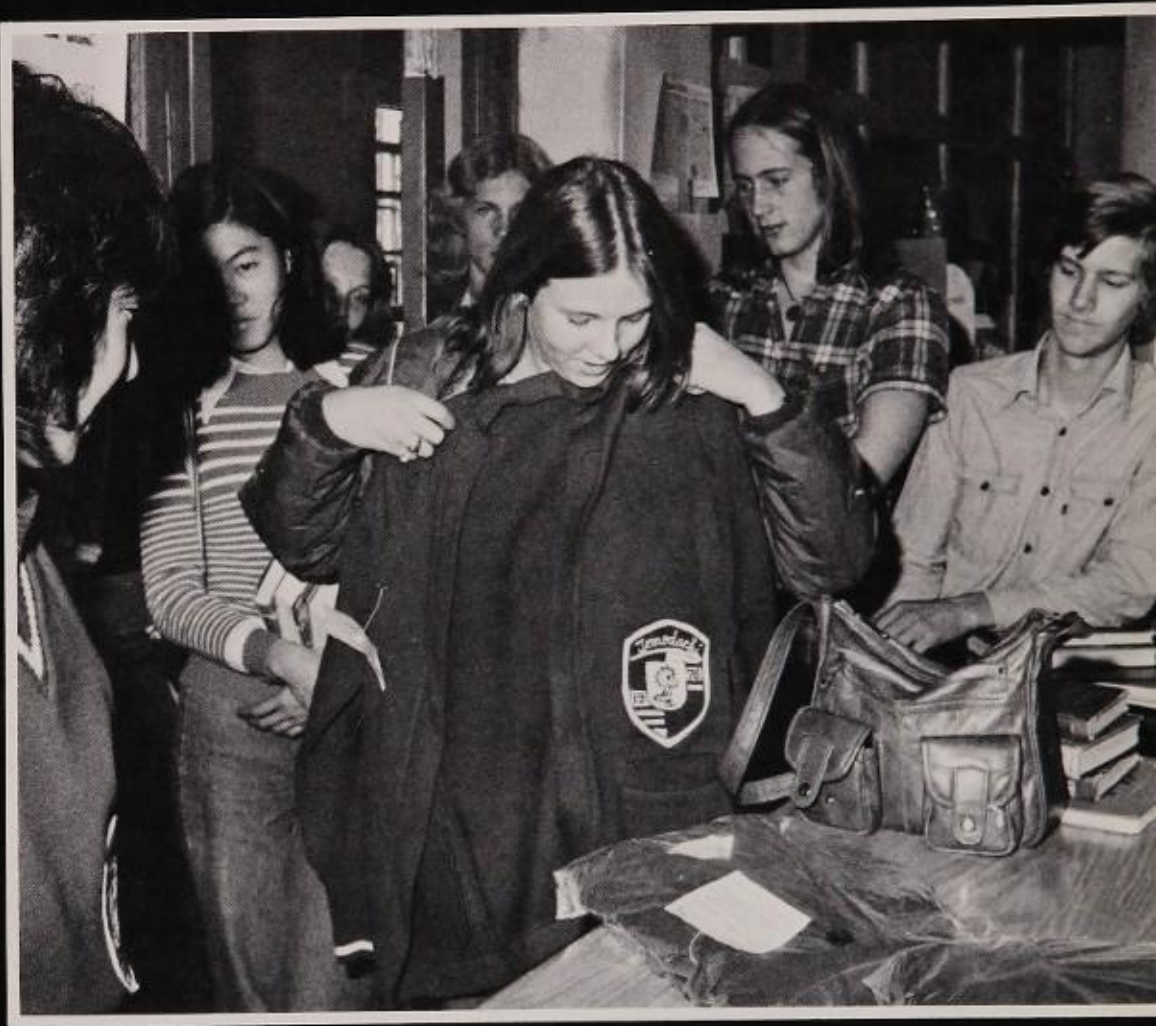
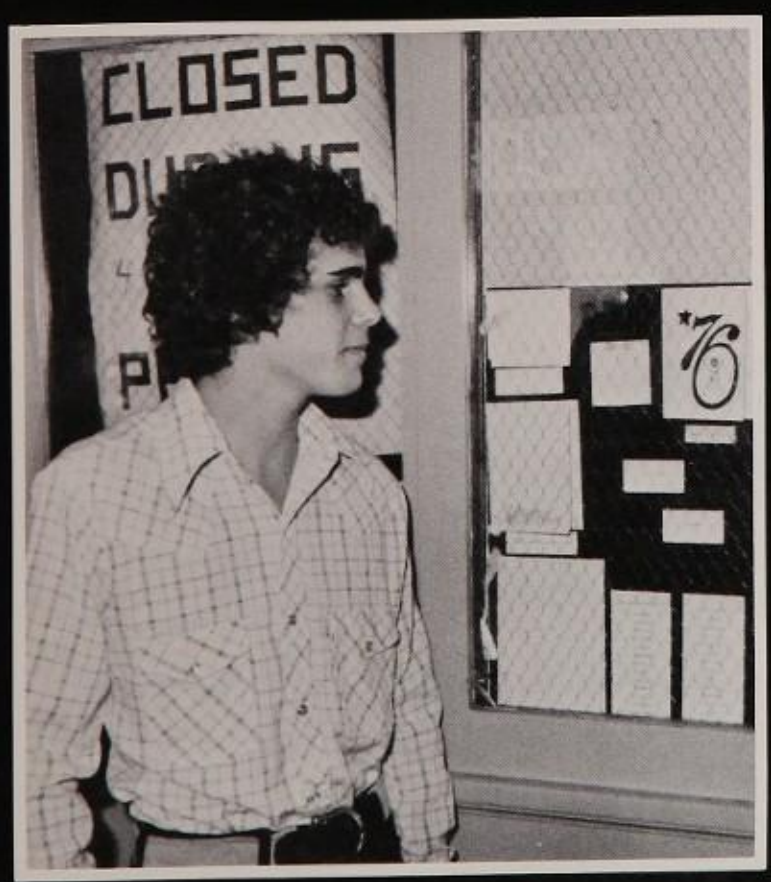
TOKENS OF SENIORHOOD

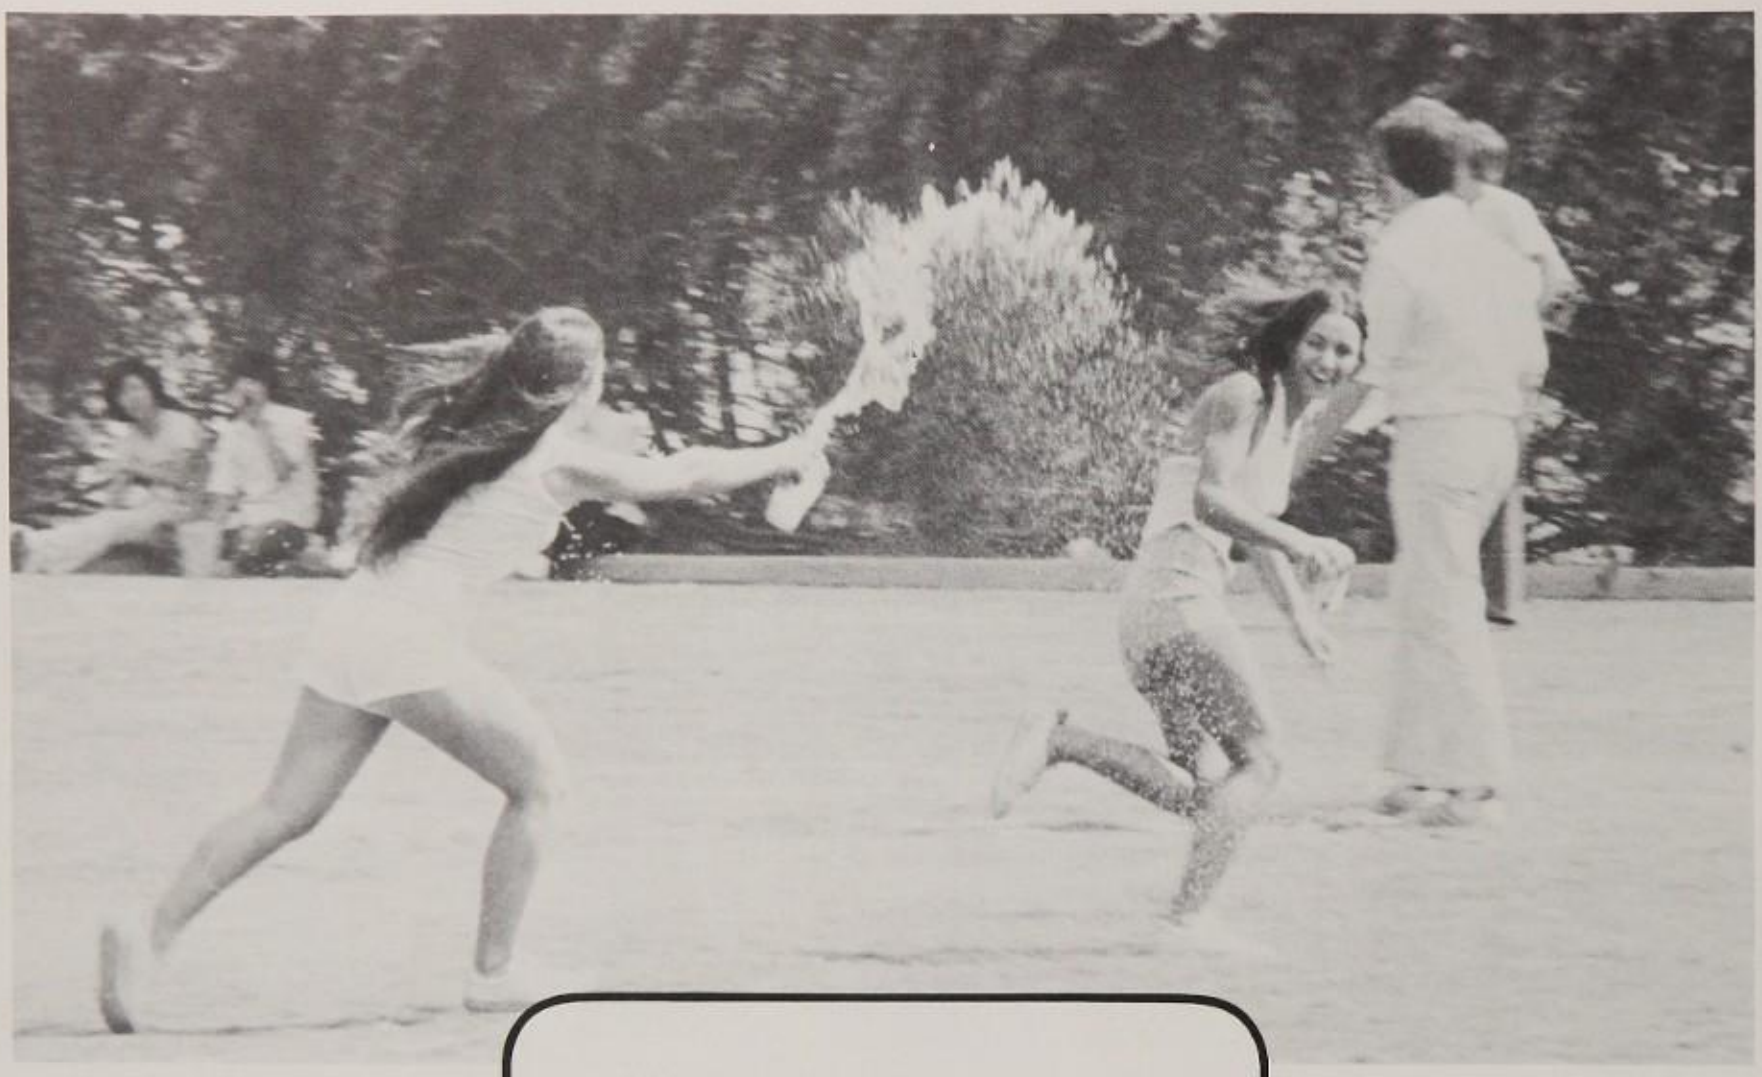


From Kindergarten to the twelfth grade, there are special symbols. Seniors have rings, t-shirts, sweaters, announcements, grad pictures, panorama pictures and a host of things that say "We've made it to the top." Despite the fact that all these things take cash, seniors happily flock to the student store to pick up their tokens of seniorhood.





SENIOR FUN AND FELLOWSHIP



Off campus and on, Seniors take every opportunity to let their high spirits and comradship show. Whether it's a water battle on the girls' field or a weekend trip to the snow, they celebrate that "almost over the top" feeling. Senior breakfasts, ice skating parties, barbeques, even class meetings to plan graduation and prom—all these punctuate that last year before liberation.

A SENIOR

Climbing over a fence to get INTO school

Being in student government

Mr. Carter coming out on Halloween day with his mask on and pumpkin in hand

A ball landing in my spaghetti and splashing me in the face

Trying to bring your skis to school

Driver Training and the kid who broke the turn signal when he thought it was the shift

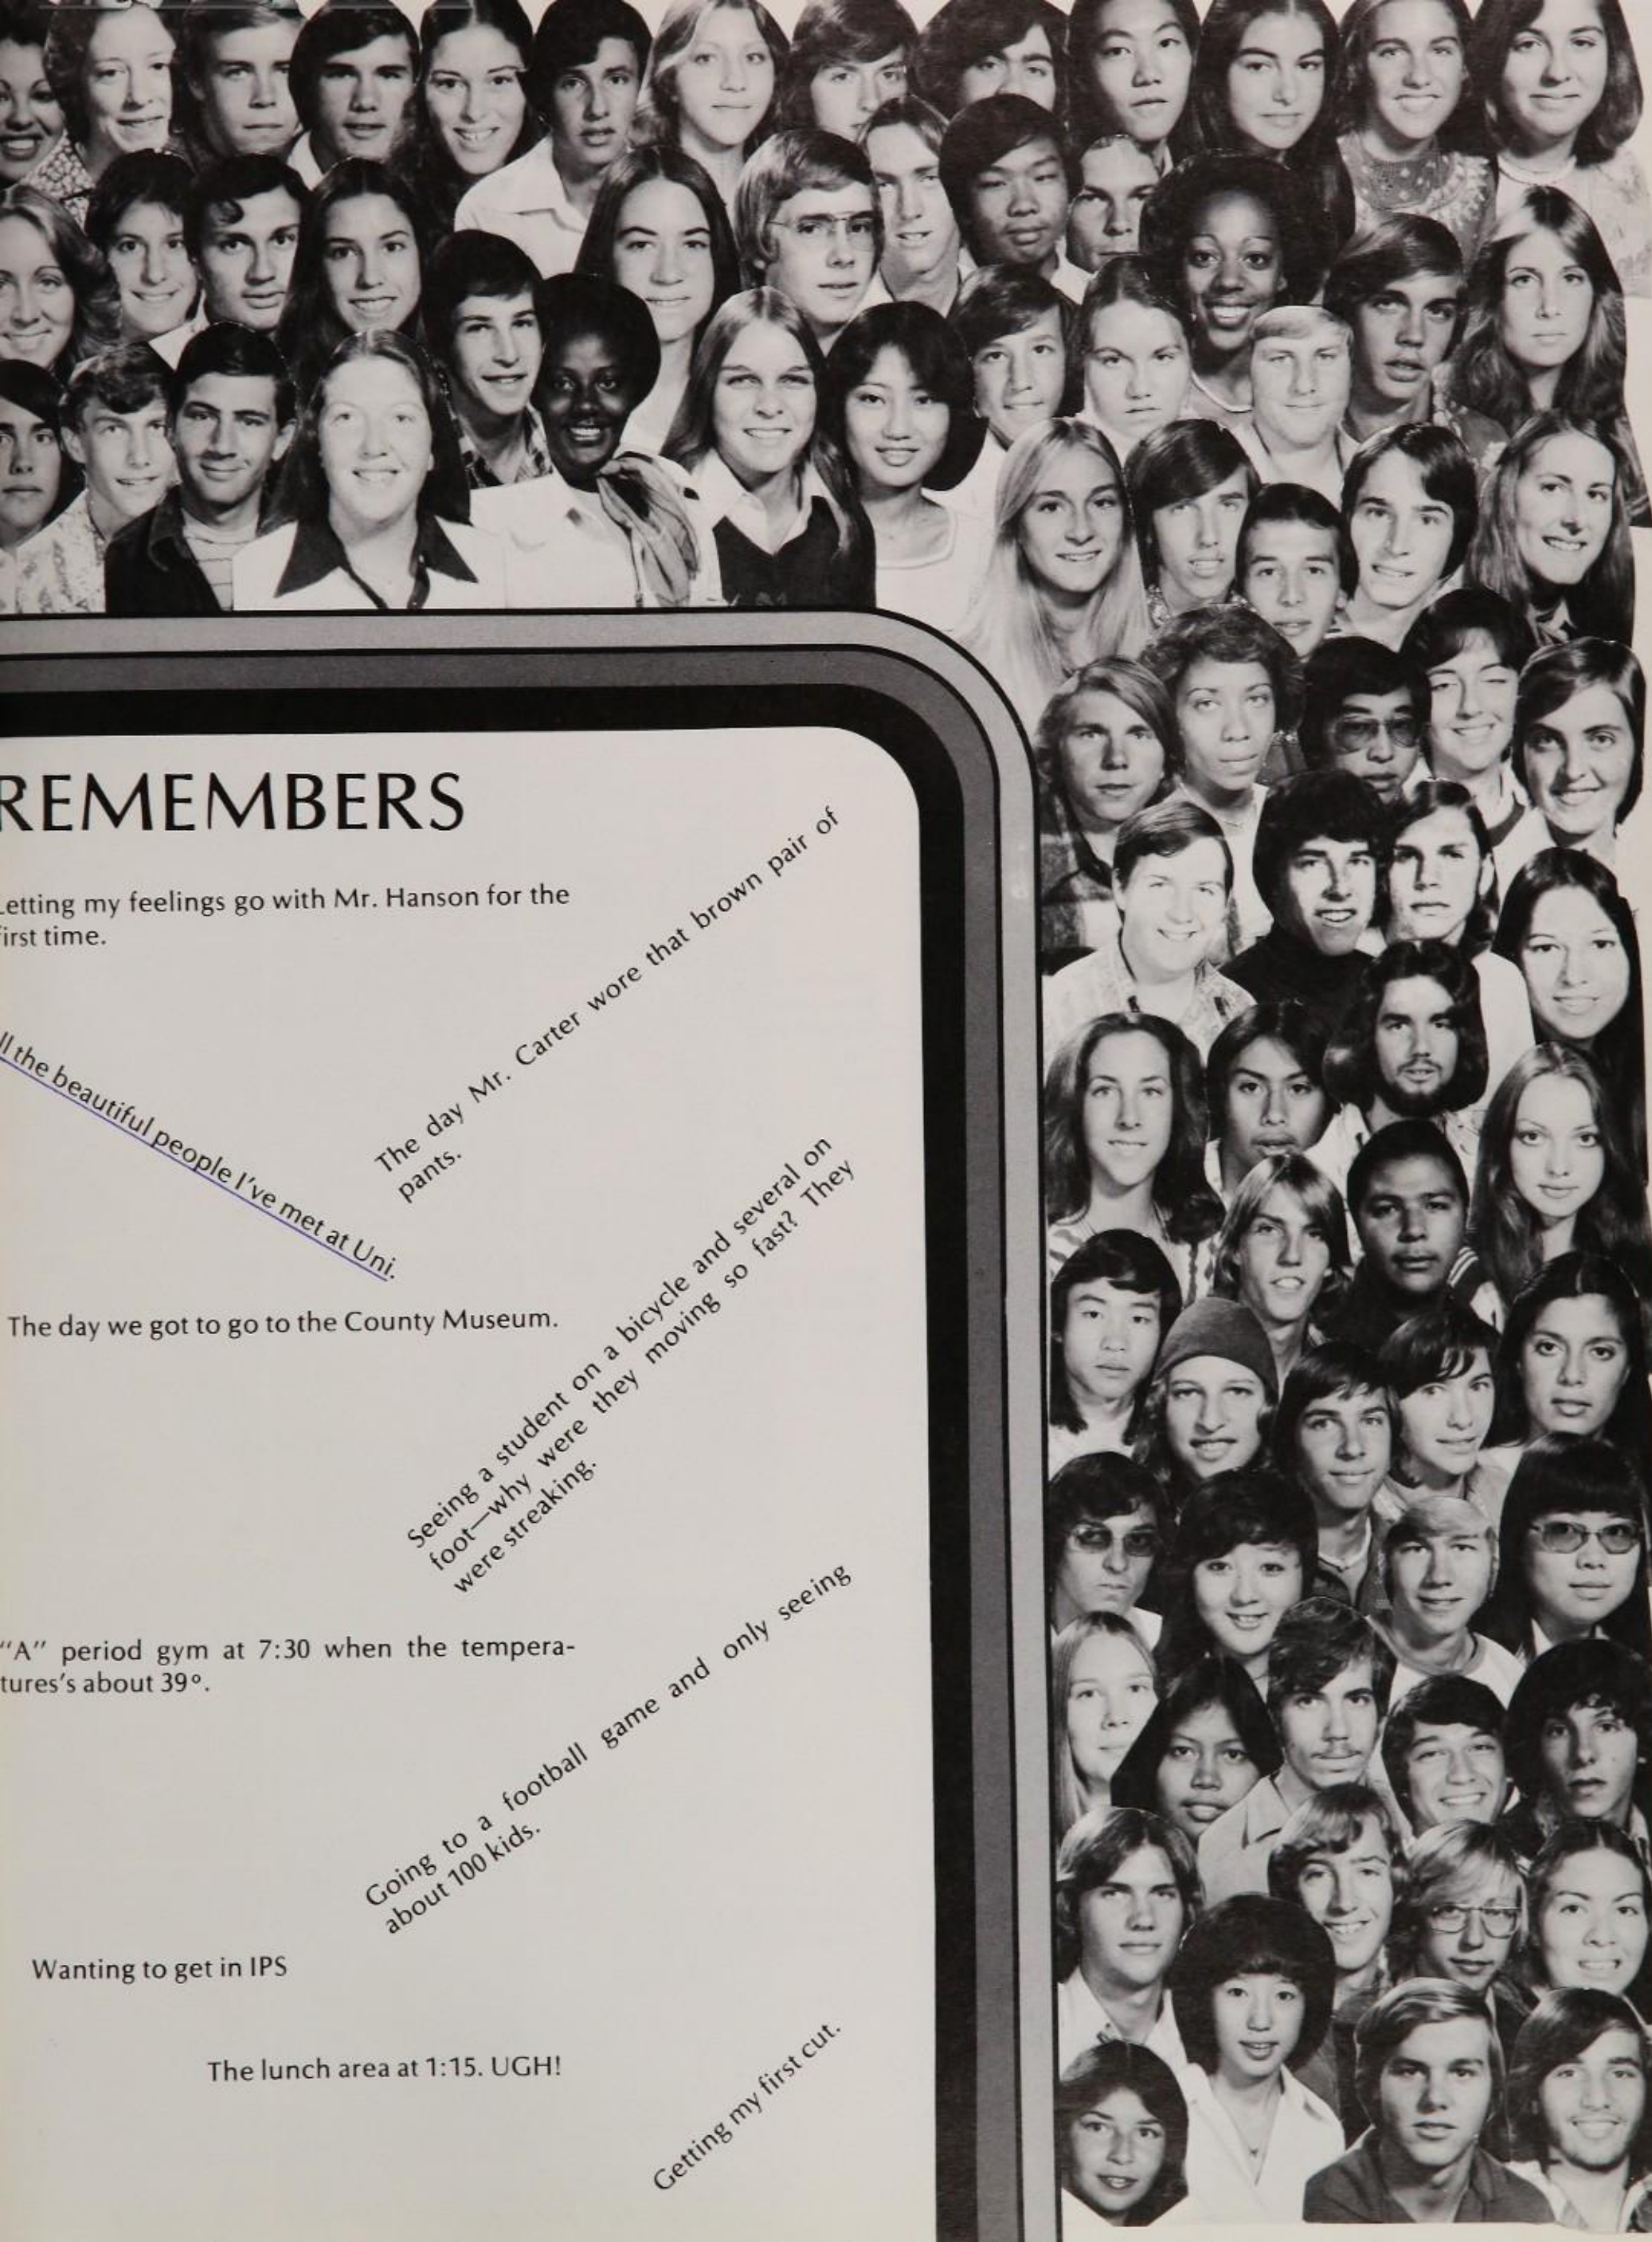
Being in a media class where I got to be a D.J. with my own by-line.

Having a part in "Once in a Lifetime

Playing in the student-faculty football game. The faculty won.

Learning to do a front handspring in gym-nastics.

The excitement of having your road test in Driver Training and actually passing it.



REMEMBERS

Letting my feelings go with Mr. Hanson for the first time.

All the beautiful people I've met at Uni.

The day Mr. Carter wore that brown pair of pants.

The day we got to go to the County Museum.

Seeing a student on a bicycle and several on foot—why were they moving so fast? They were streaking.

"A" period gym at 7:30 when the temperatures's about 39°.

Going to a football game and only seeing about 100 kids.

Wanting to get in IPS

The lunch area at 1:15. UGH!

Getting my first cut.

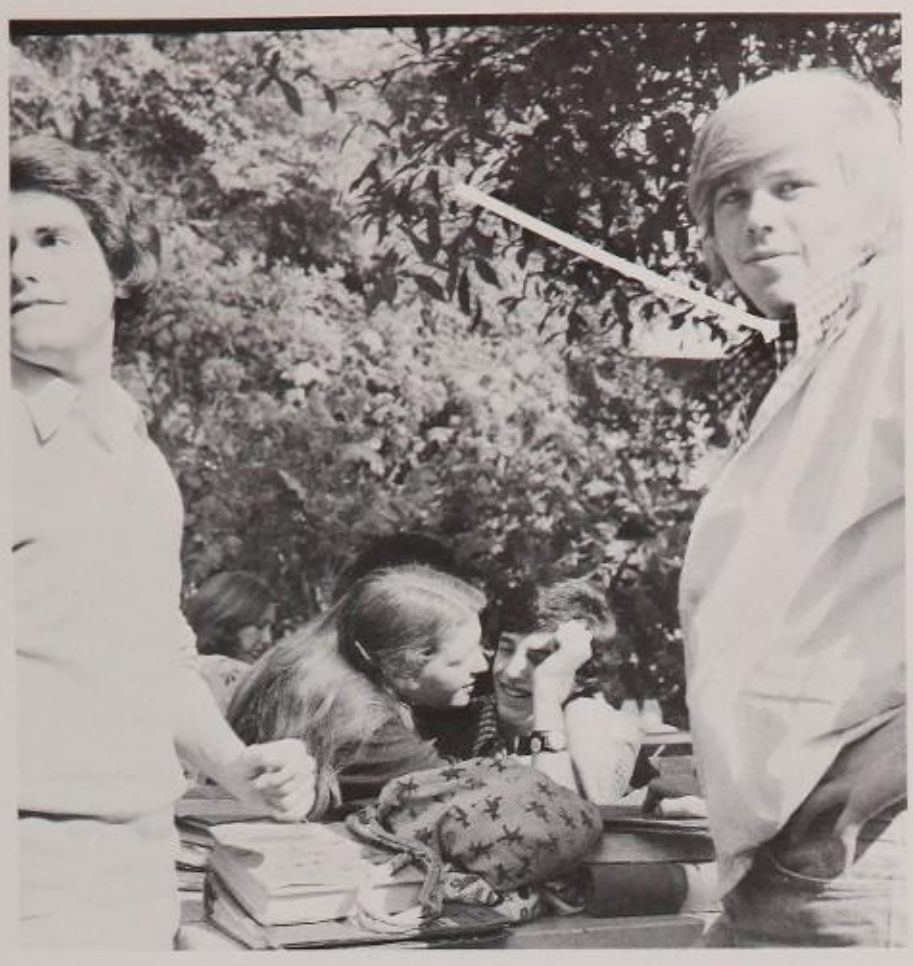
To understand people, I must try to hear what they are not saying, what they perhaps will never be able to say

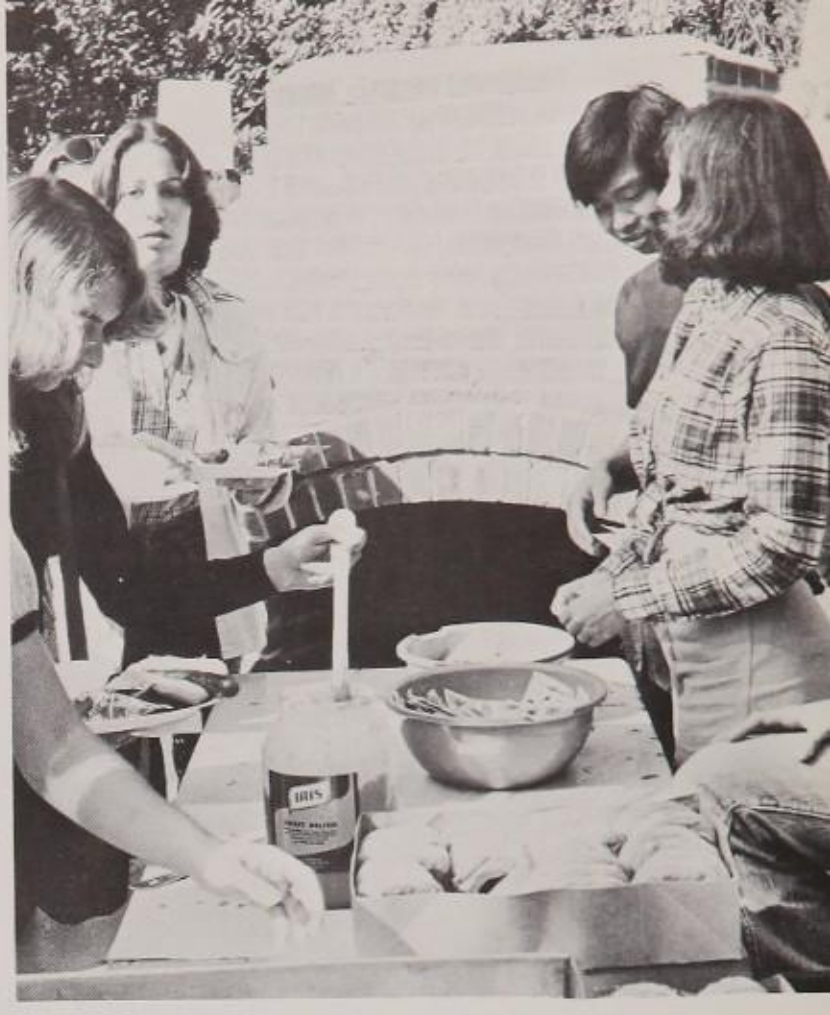
The behavior of the fully human being is always unpredictable — simply because it is FREE.

CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF '76

SENIOR BARBEQUE

It was only hot dogs for the main course and doughnuts for dessert, but when you're a senior celebrating your glorious last year of high school, nothing could be finer. And this meal, of course, is only one of many such events to share with your classmates: skating parties, the Senior breakfast, picking up portraits and the like—all of which proclaim the joy of sharing the "almost there" feeling.





SENIOR OFFICERS

Cindy,
Hope you enjoy the two-month at Cleveland. Hope you don't take all the sweets for yourself.
Have a great summer and a really fun year. Looking forward to seeing you with your present.
Love ya.
